Presentation of 3i's business model

Greater transparency on Proprietary Capital investing and Fund Management activities

3i Group

Efficient capital allocation driving total shareholder returns

Proprietary Capital investing (PC)

- Invests own balance sheet capital in investments managed by the FM
- Earns capital returns and portfolio income
- Incurs costs of operating a listed entity and allocated synthetic management fees paid to FM
- Has a balance sheet and associated costs

Maximise investment returns

Fund Management activities (FM)

- Manages funds on behalf of the PC as well as for third parties
- Earns management fees, including allocation of synthetic fees from the PC
- Cost base reflects investment management activities
- No own-balance sheet and funding costs

Grow activities profitably

Proprietary Capital

- Investing from our own balance sheet is part of our heritage
- Putting our own capital to work alongside third-party investors is a fundamental part of our business model and strategy
- 3i is the largest single investor in its Private Equity and Infrastructure funds
- Our role is both as an active owner as well as manager of third-party funds

Returns from our Proprietary Capital investing are the key driver of value for the Group

Key concepts – Proprietary Capital

Objective: maximise investment returns

- Gross Investment Return
 - Same measure as GPR, except deal fees shared with the FM and foreign exchange impact on portfolio translation included
- Synthetic fee allocated to the FM
 - Fee allocated to the FM from the PC for managing its investments
 - Private Equity: 1.5%
 - Infrastructure: 1.5%
 - Debt Management: 0.5%
- Opex
 - Costs of the functions of running the proprietary capital investment and balance sheet allocated to the PC
- Carry
 - Carry not allocated, as it relates to schemes and funds set up before the PC/FM model was established. Treatment of carry to be reviewed periodically
- Balance sheet
 - Funding costs charged to the PC as part of maintaining its balance sheet
 - FX movement on funding structures and other non portfolio balances

- In addition to the investment returns that we generate on 3i's own capital, we also focus on the profitability of our Fund Management activities
- Concept of synthetic management fees for managing 3i's proprietary capital in order to more fairly compare ourselves to the broader peer group of third-party asset managers
- We believe that our Fund Management platform is capable of generating sustainable and growing annual profits over time

This diversified and recurring Fund Management profit represents value in addition to our Proprietary Capital investments

Objective: grow activities profitably

- FM operating profit
 - Fee income from managing funds less operating costs
 - Presented on a combined basis, consistent with the strategic model of growing Debt Management and Infrastructure AUM to support Private Equity

- Fee income
 - Fee income includes synthetic fee allocated to the FM from the PC for managing its investments
 - Includes proportion of deal fees related to fund management

- Costs
 - All direct costs of running the business lines and allocation of support costs
 - Allocated proportion of central functions (finance, IT etc)

Key Performance Indicators:

3i Group

- Total shareholder return
- Annual operating cash profit

Proprietary Capital investing

- Gross investment return
- NAV and portfolio income

IFRS 10

IFRS 10

What is it?

- A new accounting standard on consolidation to be applied when preparing consolidated Group accounts
- Requires “Investment Entities” such as 3i to hold all subsidiaries at fair value (with movements going through profit and loss) rather than consolidating them on a line by line basis
- The only exception to this rule is if a subsidiary performs investment related services
- The detailed interpretation of this new standard continues to be refined

- Subsidiaries which hold portfolio investments (such as carry partnerships and other intermediate holding vehicles) will now be held at fair value
- Two thirds of 3i Group's portfolio is held through subsidiaries and therefore visibility of portfolio movements, portfolio income, opex, carry, etc in these entities will be lost
- Investment advisors, holding companies of investment advisors and General Partners will continue to be consolidated
- Portfolio held directly by 3i Group will continue to be held at fair value

IFRS 10

Consequences

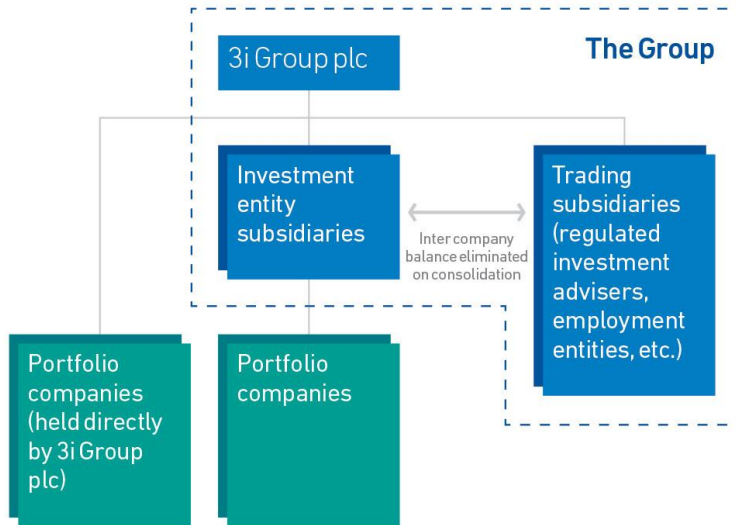

- No change to total return or Net Asset Value for the group
- Greatly reduced level of disclosure in primary statements, income statement, balance sheet and cash flow. Performance of entities held at fair value recorded in one single line in income statement
- Introduction of an “investment basis” set of accounts, prepared on similar basis to prior year, fair valuing investments at the level that provides most understandable primary statements
- Reconciliation in annual report, reconciling investment basis accounts to IFRS accounts
